SPECIAL SITUATION 1. (Blue): It is reported that the Reds have evacuated CAMP DEVENS. Co. A. 1st. Blue Infantry has been sent ahead from the northwest to occupy and hold CAMP DEVENS, pending arrival of re-inforcements. It has one platoon as advance guard. The advance guard has one section as support, and one section as advance party. The advance party has thrown one squad forward as point. The point was fired at from across the NASHUA RIVER when it approached the bridge north of CAMP DEVENS. The point returned the fire and crossed the bridge, and following the Reds arrived at this point (28.06-57.06), when it was stopped by a heavy fire from east of the PARADE GROUND. The advance party is following the point at 150 yards in line of squad columns. C.O. advance party knows the above. Action and orders of C.O. advance party, when he enters the PARADE GROUND.

REQUIRED:

SPECIAL SITUATION 2. (Blue): The advance party was able to advance to east end of PARADE GROUND, when it was stopped by heavy Red fire from across the brook just ahead. The support was following the advance party at 250 yards, in section column with a column of files on each side of the road. The C.O. of the support knows the above. Action and orders of Advance Guard Commander when the support enters the PARADE GROUND.

REQUIRED:

NOTE: (This is the 1st. platoon)

SPECIAL SITUATION 3. (Blue): The company in column of squads was following the advance guard at 350 yards. The Company Commander knew the above, and decides to attack the Reds with two platoons in the assault echelon, and two platoons in support, with right and left combat patrols from support platoons. Actions and orders of Company Commander.

REQUIRED:

SPECIAL SITUATION 4. (Blue): You are Leader of 2nd. platoon. Your platoon is marching in column of squads at head of main body. You receive Company Commander's orders before you enter PARADE GROUND that your platoon will be right assault platoon. Your orders as Leader of 2nd. platoon.

REQUIRED:

SPECIAL SITUATION 5. (Blue): You are Leader of 3rd. Platoon. Your platoon is marching in column of squads behind 2nd. Platoon. You receive Company Commander's orders before you enter PARADE GROUND that your Platoon will be left support platoon, 250 yards in rear of assault echelon, and that you will furnish the left combat patrol. Your orders as Leader of 3rd. platoon.

The Lamentations of a Rat

I am a rat at A. M. A.

Oh, poor me;

I hug the rail, and jack 'em back,

Oh, poor me;

In the afternoon, when I'm at rest,

The old man's voice is at it's best,

I find that I am but a jest,

Oh, poor me.

I'm up before the rooster crows,

Oh, poor me;

I'm down before the bugle blows,

Oh, poor me;

And if I am a little late

The lowly worm is made my mate,

Why even my own life's at stake,

Oh, poor me.

Down to the "Fort" I walk each day,

Oh, poor me;

An egg is broken on my head,

Oh, poor me;

And then I'm put on a detail,

To carry up the old man's mail,

They tell me I'm just like a snail,

Oh, poor me.

But there's one thing I think about,

Oh, happy me;

I'll be an old man bye and bye,

Oh, happy me;

And then I'll get my chance at last,

As through the arch the rats file past,

They'll have to move awfully fast,

Oh, happy me.

MARLBORO TOWN MAKING PROGRESS

Much Building Activity Seen in Bennettsville.

VERY VARIED IN SCOPE

Two New Opera Houses, Fine Residences, Business Houses, Etc., Among Improvements.

Special to The State.

Bennettsville, March 21.—Quite a great deal of building and improvement is going on in Bennettsville. In fact, less conservative towns would probably consider progress now being made as a great boom. On East Main street five very handsome store buildings are being completed. An opera house, which is attractive in design and will have a seating capacity of 1,000, is also nearing completion. At the corner of Marlboro and Market streets a large brick building is being erected, with three ground floor rooms, which will be used for automobile show rooms. Three stores on Broad street have just been remodelled, giving to this section a modern and up to date appearance. A large office building, which will be occupied by the Pee Dee Cotton company, is being erected on the site that was occupied by a small office building. E. W. Evans is extending the Peoples National bank building through the block from Broad street to Liberty street. This building joins the postoffice building lot and Masonic temple and will be used for offices. A large brick building is being erected and when completed part of it will be occupied by B. F. Whitten for an undertaking establishment. On the corner of Liberty and Market streets an opera house for negro people is being erected, with a seating capacity of about 500. On Market street and facing the public square a bank building is being erected, which when completed will be occupied by a bank that has been organized and is officered and the stock owned by negro people.

In addition to these business houses, there are a number of residences being erected. A trip through the county shows that even in the face of high priced material, that the farm homes and tenant houses are being rebuilt and remodeled to a greater extent than has ever been known in this section. Business houses are in great demand and it is impossible to supply the wants of the people for residences. The Methodists have under consideration plans for enlargement of the church, and in order to carry out this plan satisfactorily it seems that it is very probable that a new church will have to be built.

10TH INNING HOME RUN WINS FOR ROLLERS

ous Crowd of Fans Sees A Pitcher Clout Pill Far Over
Field, Bringing in Three and Defeating S. M. A. in ought a seball Classic.

Augusta Military academy enshrined a new hero in her athletic Hall of Fame yesterday afternoon when Sam Nugent, pitcher for the Augusta team, stepped to the bat in the tenth inning of the final game of the series between A. M. A., and with two men on bases, the score tied at 2 to 2, drove the ball over the Staunton center-fielder's head for a home run, giving Augusta a clean sweep of the yearly series between the traditional rivals.

Nugent's clout, which thrilled the tremendous crowd of S. M. A. and A. M. A. fans that was out for the contest, was practically the end of a ball game that, despite the drizzle that prevailed, was one of the best seen here in years, both Nugent and Swett, the Staunton twirler, being in splendid form. Nugent deserved his victory, for while each pitcher allowed seven hits, the Augusta pitcher struck out eight men, walked only one, and did not hit a batsman, as opposed to four strike-outs by Swett and three bases on balls.

S. M. A. Rallies In 9th.

Staunton made a desperate rally and bid for the game in the ninth, but was helpless before Nugent. After an extended argument over a disputed play, Malone, batting for Ritter, hit the first ball pitched by Nugent for a screaming triple to deep right. Mason, pinch-hitting for Barber, popped to Nugent and on the next play, Moseley, A. M. A.'s second baseman, made the star fielding play of the game when he handled perfectly Swett's hard hit grounder and retired him at first.

Augusta opened the game auspiciously when Hatchett, the first man up, doubled, but was thrown out when he overslid the bag in attempting to steal third. In the 4th, A. M.
A. opened the scoring when Pillow was safe following Regan's and Mc-Connell's collision on his high fly to center. He advanced on Higgins' passed ball and scored on Ott's timely single to left. S. M. A. went one ahead in the same inning. McMahon drew life on Hatchett's error and went to second on Regan's hit over second. Both runners advanced a base on a bad return from the outfield and scored when Smith let Bry-son's return throw of his peg on Higgins third strike, which he had dropped, get away from him.

Augusta tied up the score in the seventh when Moseley was safe on Lawley's error on his scorching grounder. He stole second and scored when Hatchett's high fly to third went for a hit in the strong wind, the S. M. A. fielder having been unable to judge it.

Tied Score On Fly.

In the tenth, with one down, Eller singled over short. Pillow drew four balls and both men romped home ahead of Nugent on his sensational smash to center field.

The twirling of the rival pitchers, Nugent's and Ott's batting for A. M.
A., and Jenkins' for Staunton, together with Moseley's phenomenal fielding for Augusta, featured the game.

A. M. A. SCALPS STAUNTON IN FIRST GAME

Great Crowd of Fans Crowd Rim of Clay Bowl and See Old Rivals
Battle for Supremacy on Diamond;
S. M. A. Outplayed From Start;
Score, 5-1.

With Nugent twirling gilt-edge ball and holding his opponents absolutely at his mercy, while his teammates played errorless ball and slammed the sphere to all corners of the lot when hits meant runs, Augusta Military academy yesterday defeated its traditional rivals, Staunton Military academy, in the first clash of the season between the two schools by a score of 5 to 1, in the A. M. A.
Clay Bowl.

With ideal baseball weather, a crowd of about a thousand people, including the Roller corps and a large contingent of S. M. A. cadets, witnessed the game. At no time was the result very much in doubt, as A.
M. A. outplayed Staunton at all stages and fully earned its victory.

Swett, who pitched S. M. A. to victory over Fishburne last week, was in good form except in the second and third, when A. M. A.'s runs were scored. After the fourth, the game resolved itself into a pitchers' battle with honors about even. Nugent's superior brand of pitching, however, clearly entitled him to the victory.
The portsider allowed only seven hits and struck out ten men. Only in the fourth, when Jenkins secured a slashing triple to left and was singled home by Lawley, was he in any danger. In the fourth and the ninth, with two men on bases, and nobody down, Nugent struck out the next two men that faced him and made an out on the next play. The game came to a sensational end in the ninth when Eller's peg from right field caught Lawley at the plate for the final out.

In the second inning, after Nugent had been thrown out trying to stretch a two bagger into a triple, Ott singled to right field. Marrow following with a hit over second.
Bryson was safe at first when Mc-Mahon held his hard-hit grounder.
Moseley singled sharply to center and Ott scored. Smith sent a line drive to Swett, who doubled Bryson at second.

In the third, A. M. A. put the game on ice. Hatchett, the first man up, hit a high fly to center that Regan was unable to hold. Eller laid down a beautiful bunt which he beat out.
Hatchett going to second. Both runners were advanced a base on a passed ball. Pillow sent a smashing three bagger to right field that scored both runners and crossed the plate himself when Nugent got his second twobagger of the game. Bryson went to first and Nugent to third on Ritter's error and Nugent scored on Higgins' passed ball.

Nugent's batting and pitching.

there are a number of residences being erected. A trip through the county shows that even in the face of high priced material, that the farm homes and tenant houses are being rebuilt and remodeled to a greater extent than has ever been known in this section. Business houses are in great demand and it is impossible to supply the wants of the people for residences.
The Methodists have under consideration plans for enlargement of the church, and in order to carry out this plan satisfactorily it seems that it is very probable that a new church will have to be built.

10TH INNING HOME RUN WINS FOR ROLLERS

ous Crowd of Fans Sees A.
Pitcher Clout Pill Far Over
Field, Bringing in Three
and Defeating S. M. A. in ought . seball Classic.

Augusta Military academy enshrined a new hero in her athletic Hall of Fame yesterday afternoon when Sam Nugent, pitcher for the Augusta team, stepped to the bat in the tenth inning of the final game of the series between A. M. A., and with two men on bases, the score tied at 2 to 2, drove the ball over the Staunton center-fielder's head for a home run, giving Augusta a clean sweep of the yearly series between the traditional rivals.

Nugent's clout, which thrilled the tremendous crowd of S. M. A. and A. M. A. fans that was out for the contest, was practically the end of a ball game that, despite the drizzle that prevailed, was one of the best seen here in years, both Nugent and Swett, the Staunton twirler, being in splendid form. Nugent deserved his victory, for while each pitcher allowed seven hits, the Augusta pitcher struck out eight men, walked only one, and did not hit a batsman, as opposed to four strike-outs by Swett and three bases on balls.

S. M. A. Rallies In 9th.

Staunton made a desperate rally and bid for the game in the ninth, but was helpless before Nugent. After an extended argument over a disputed play, Malone, batting for Ritter, hit the first ball pitched by Nugent for a screaming triple to deep right. Mason, pinch-hitting for Barber, popped to Nugent and on the next play, Moseley, A. M. A.'s second baseman, made the star fielding play of the game when he handled perfectly Swett's hard hit grounder and retired him at first.

Augusta opened the game auspiciously when Hatchett, the first man up, doubled, but was thrown out when he overslid the bag in attempting to steal third. In the 4th, A. M. A. opened the scoring when Pillow was safe following Regan's and McConnell's collision on his high fly to center. He advanced on Higgins' passed ball and scored on Ott's timely single to left. S. M. A. went one ahead in the same inning. McMahon drew life on Hatchett's error and went to second on Regan's hit over second. Both runners advanced a base on a bad return from the outfield and scored when Smith let Bryson's return throw of his peg on Higgins third strike, which he had dropped, get away from him.

Augusta tied up the score in the seventh when Moseley was safe on Lawley's error on his scorching grounder. He stole second and scored when Hatchett's high fly to third went for a hit in the strong wind, the S. M. A. fielder having been unable to judge it.

Tied Score On Fly.

In the tenth, with one down, Eller singled over short. Pillow drew four balls and both men romped home ahead of Nugent on his sensational smash to center field.

The twirling of the rival pitchers, Nugent's and Ott's batting for A. M. A., and Jenkins' for Staunton, together with Moseley's phenomenal fielding for Augusta, featured the game.

A. M. A. SCALPS STAUNTON IN FIRST GAME

Great Crowd of Fans Crowd Rim of
Clay Bowl and See Old Rivals
Battle for Supremacy on Diamond;
S. M. A. Outplayed From Start;
Score, 5-1.

With Nugent twirling gilt-edge ball and holding his opponents absolutely at his mercy, while his teammates played errorless ball and slammed the sphere to all corners of the lot when hits meant runs, Augusta Military academy yesterday defeated its traditional rivals, Staunton Military academy, in the first clash of the season between the two schools, by a score of 5 to 1, in the A. M. A. Clay Bowl.

With ideal baseball weather, a crowd of about a thousand people, including the Roller corps and a large contingent of S. M. A. cadets, witnessed the game. At no time was the result very much in doubt, as A. M. A. outplayed Staunton at all stages and fully earned its victory.

Swett, who pitched S. M. A. to victory over Fishburne last week, was in good form except in the second and third, when A. M. A.'s runs were scored. After the fourth, the game resolved itself into a pitchers' battle with honors about even. Nugent's superior brand of pitching, however, clearly entitled him to the victory. The portsider allowed only seven hits and struck out ten men. Only in the fourth, when Jenkins secured a slashing triple to left and was singled home by Lawley, was he in any danger. In the fourth and the ninth, with two men on bases, and nobody down, Nugent struck out the next two men that faced him and made an out on the next play. The game came to a sensational end in the ninth when Eller's peg from right field caught Lawley at the plate for the final out.

In the second inning, after Nugent had been thrown out trying to stretch a two bagger into a triple, Ott singled to right field. Marrow following with a hit over second. Bryson was safe at first when McMahon held his hard-hit grounder. Moseley singled sharply to center and Ott scored. Smith sent a line drive to Swett, who doubled Bryson at second.

In the third, A. M. A. put the game on ice. Hatchett, the first man up, hit a high fly to center that Regan was unable to hold. Eller laid down a beautiful bunt which he beat out, Hatchett going to second. Both runners were advanced a base on a passed ball. Pillow sent a smashing three bagger to right field that scored both runners and crossed the plate himself when Nugent got his second two-bagger of the game. Bryson went to first and Nugent to third on Ritter's error and Nugent scored on Higgins' passed ball.
